Senomyx Inc. has hired David B. Berger as its new vice president, general counsel, and corporate secretary. With over 12 years of biotechnology, medical diagnostics, and information technology industries experience, Berger previously served as the vice president of legal affairs at Biosite Inc. as well as an attorney at Cooley Godward Kronish, LLP. "We are very fortunate to have someone with David's wealth of legal accomplishments join Senomyx," said the company's president and CEO, Kent Snyder. "David's experience with licensing and negotiations, intellectual property, and other corporate activities are...appropriate for Senomyx, and we are pleased to have him become a member of our management team." Berger received his J.D. from Stanford Law School and a B.A. from the University of California — Berkeley.

GC at WellCare Resigns

Along with its president, CEO, and CFO, WellCare's general counsel, Thaddeus Bereday, has resigned from the company. Already, WellCare has begun its search for a new CFO and GC. "The board has a confidence in these new executives," said Ruben Jose King-Shaw Jr. in a statement. "They will provide fresh leadership to the company to help meet the challenges and opportunities it faces. The creation of the role of executive chairman along with the appointment of Heati Schiesser as president and CEO are important steps in that process."
